INTRODUCTION

THE NATIONAL OUTDOOR EVENTS ASSOCIATION – NOEA

NOEA, established in 1979, is the only trade association specialising in the Outdoor Events Industry.

It is able to connect you to some 400 Members covering Local Authorities, Festival and Event Organisers, Universities/Students, Entertainment Agencies, Promoters, Venues and Suppliers of Equipment and Services together with Practitioners generally in the World of Outdoor Events.

NOEA's policy to educate, share problems and enhance professionalism and business opportunities clearly works. The regional workshops/conferences and Annual Convention & Award Celebration Evenings offer opportunities to find out about the latest developments – to learn about topical issues such as the Licensing Act, Disability Discrimination Act, Security Industry Authority etc, Training Event Managers, working on the British Standard for the Sustainability of Event Management, Business Visits & Events Partnership, The Genesis Initiative, The Event Industry Forum, International Festivals & Events Association – Europe, to debate issues, share information, network, meet new business contacts, renew old friendships and have some fun.

NOEA offers a wide range of opportunities that can lead to enhanced business relationships and, ultimately, greater success, it is worth the time and effort by joining NOEA.

Networking opportunities and the chance to influence legislation are two of the greatest benefits of NOEA membership. However, to benefit from this, members must participate and be active within the association. Paying annual dues isn't enough to reap the benefits of NOEA. Members must also make an investment of time and effort into NOEA activities and become involved. Simply put, what you get out of NOEA membership is directly relative to what you put in.

Access to membership directory. NOEA, maintains a directory, in which members and their industry businesses are listed. This can help increase exposure to new markets and potential clients.

Networking opportunities. NOEA, provide members with an excellent opportunity to network with other event industry professionals.

Opportunities to give back to the industry. NOEA, members can share their industry knowledge with other member businesses and promote a stronger sense of community cooperation.

Competitive advantage. Taking advantage NOEA, resources, can help members earn and maintain an edge over non-member competitors.

Inside access to innovations and new developments. NOEA, lets its members stay on top of new products, services and innovations, helping members maintain a competitive edge.

NOEA also undertake:-

- Regular Email Newsletters and articles in Access All Areas Magazine (free copies to Members)
- Active Website: www.noea.org.uk
- NOEA Members' Yearbook 2020 – the Outdoor Events Industry Reference Guide – complimentary copy upon application
- Participation in the major trade shows with complimentary admission tickets
- Legal Advisory & Debt Recovery Services
- NOEA Insurance Panel.
- Members discounts with Arnold Clark and Van Hire
- Members discounts with Telepa phone service

By becoming a member of NOEA you become part of a specialist 'club' of outdoor event professionals. The ethos of the association is to bring together like-minded people for business to business networking, education, the sharing of problems and ideas and to enhance professionalism.

There are many opportunities to market and promote your business through NOEA as well as to learn more about professional standards of practice, topical issues and legislation within the industry.

How to find out more about NOEA?

NOEA's website www.noea.org.uk gives full details of the association along with the events and issues that are affecting our industry. Or you can contact CEO, Susan Tanner, who will be pleased to tell you more about the association and how to become a member.

NOEA INSURANCE PANEL They provide insurance services applicable to the Outdoor Events, Leisure, Entertainment, Sports and Hospitality Industries. The Companies are all Registered Insurance Brokers with over 150 years of experience between them. The Companies are committed to providing impartial advice and specialist services.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT – TOM CLEMENTS

Hello and welcome to the 2020 NOEA hand book, I hope that the start of the new year and new decade has so far been fruitful for all our members?

I was honoured and delighted to of been elected your President at our annual convention and AGM in November 2019, I promise that I will work diligently and enthusiastically for our members throughout the next couple of years, I and the General Council are custodians of the association and will work tirelessly for the benefit of the association and our membership.

Whilst I know that many of you are very busy heading into the summer, I would be grateful if there is anything that you think NOEA should be lobbying for or being involved with and if we can hopefully assist, please email president@noea.org.uk and I look forward to hearing from you.

By the time you read this we will have left the EEC and the government will be now negotiating a trade deal with them. I know from speaking to members there is a varied opinion on if we should leave or not, it has now happened and I honestly believe in what will be will be. I am sure that there will be members who are very worried that they will lose business being out and there will be some that don't think it will make a difference.

No matter what your view we need, as my old man used to say "take the bull by the horns" and make the best of what there is. I'm sure that to some this will be all doom and gloom whilst others shine, my view is that for every door that closes there will be one or two opening. We need to be positive and seek out new business and contacts, we should network as positively as we can, looking for new opportunities to replace those we may have lost. We must also manage our businesses If we have lost out we must cut our cloth short term pain for long term gain?

In my day job at Specialized over the years we have lost business due to events not happening from year to year also the one off events like Olympics and Commonwealth Games, we always manage to fill the following year's space with hard work and by going out and chasing business.

I mentioned earlier about our Convention and AGM which was once again held in the Roman Baths and Pump Rooms in Bath. What a tremendous convention I would say probably the best yet, it was an excellent well informed packed day with great speakers and plenty of networking.

If you missed it I'm sorry, but from success to success we march and I think that this years might we might just top it? Our annual awards dinner which followed the convention was well attended and it was good that bar one all the winners were actually in attendance, good food, good wine and good company you couldn't wish for more. I must mention that the two top awards this year went to exceptional winners. The President's Award was received by Gill Tee. I have known Gill since her Capital Radio days when we met in Finsbury Park and in all that time she has been a leader in the events world, dedicated, professional and never letting the "so and so's" getting her down. She remains dedicated and her new Black Deer Festival is testament to her knowledge and style.

We also introduced this year the "Life Time Achievement Award" whilst it is to recognise someone who has had a prominent career in the Events Industry, it is designed for today and todays people and not always for someone who may be finishing their career. It also carries honorary personal membership of the association. I was delighted to present Geoff Ellis of DF Concert & Events as the inaugural winner, Geoff has had a marvellous career so far and continues to bring his expertise and ideas to the industry continually reinventing the festival and event world, truly a wonderful recipient.

Once again this year NOEA will be exhibiting at the Event Production Show which this year has moved to the Excel Arena, Eventit at the EICC in Edinburgh and of course the Showman's Show in October, it would be great to meet as many members as possible so please do come along and say hello!

Before I sign off I must pay tribute to our extremely hard working Chief Executive Susan Tanner. Susan has been with us now for a few years and I am sure most members will have met her, but we as an association couldn't survive without her diligence and hard work. Not only on a daily basis but she virtually single handed organises our convention and award dinner (I would also pay tribute to those on Council that assist on the day) which takes a bit as all you event organisers know. But it is at the trade events she is in full swing, spending the entire day on our stand speaking with potential and current members, she is a gem and after being Vice President have witnessed her hard work first hand, many thanks Susan I look forward to continuing working with you as President and indeed you keeping me in line!

I hope that 2020 will be a great year for all.

Tom Clements

MESSAGE FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT

VICE PRESIDENT – IAN TAYLOR

Hello everyone, what a year 2019 has been, there has been much reported in the news about progressions and changes to our country, and businesses up and down the country, ours included, will no doubt be affected one way or indeed another.

We at NOEA feel as prepared as possible, and hope to be in a strong position to support our members, as we have for forty years, as we head into 2020 we have a new executive team working for the benefit of our members and supported by our fantastic council members; I was delighted to be appointed Vice President at our annual convention in Bath in November 2019, and as we move forward into a new decade I hope to build on the great work already being undertaken by NOEA, and drive forward even more, new and exciting projects for our team to help our members. My thanks must go to our outgoing President, Andy Grove for his hard work over the last few years with NOEA, to my President for this year, Tom Clements for his belief in me, and his encouragement for me to stand for election, as NOEA's youngest ever Vice President, and for the years of work he has put in, to bring him to the position of President. Susan Tanner, our Chief Executive Officer, also works tirelessly for the benefit of this organisation, regularly putting in more than her allotted half a week, simply to see NOEA flourish, for the benefit of our members. I hope to connect with many more of you this year, and can't wait to see what exciting opportunities present themselves for us as NOEA and for our industry as the year progresses.

Ian Taylor

NOEA HAVE LAUNCHED A NEW CAMPAIGN

NOEA – RESPECT CAMPAIGN

The National Outdoor Events Association has launched a new campaign to encourage better treatment of staff, volunteers and attendees of events. The new campaign, simply branded 'Respect', will include a Respect Charter that events-based organisations can sign up to. The aim is for events businesses to demonstrate a zero-tolerance approach to harassment of any kind while at an event.

NOEA has developed an open source slogan, for use by any organisation looking to sign up to the charter, as a sign to all attendees, staff and contractors that the event will not tolerate harassment of any kind. As part of signing up to the campaign, the branding can be supported by poster templates and also guidance on staff training and how to deal with complaints.

"Whether we like it or not, harassment is part and parcel with working on, and attending, major events, both as staff members, volunteers, and often attendees," comments Becky Stevens, Founder of Hybred Events and NOEA Council Member. "It's something that happens all too frequently and just isn't acceptable. This campaign is about the industry coming together to show a zero-tolerance approach to it, and hopefully stamp it out."

The Respect campaign was launched at the NOEA Annual Convention, with the Charter to be developed in partnership with the industry. The association is also working with the Equalities and Human Rights Commission, who are keen to work closely with the campaign and its ambitions.

"The Equalities and Human Rights Commission are also delighted with the Respect campaign and are convening a working group on the project. They are also working with us to pull together a simple guidance pack for organisation's signing up to the charter," continued Becky. "There are already some really great examples of events who look to address the respect of its people, massively reducing the number of reported incidents. This campaign can be a real support for those looking to do more."

Values – We help make events happen

- NOEA is an association to be proud of in an industry loved by everyone. Everywhere.
- Because of us the best outdoor event professionals share knowledge and best practice. We overcome obstacles as a community.
- Because of our members events happen safely, securely and with excellence.
- Because of us and our members great events have a secure and stable future.

Aims (1 year)

- The use of a campaign to raise NOEA's profile, and provide answers and solutions that will work. We will focus on key issues for our members and event organisers in general. Staff welfare and environmental sustainability are currently being examined.
- Use NOEA's annual convention and our platform at other trade shows to highlight under-represented parties in the events industry. We aim to champion key figures to encourage future events professionals from all backgrounds.
- NOEA commits to examining how the council operates, and whether it is fit for the future.

Mission (5 year)

- Following a programme of repositioning and rebranding NOEA will build trust in the industry through a series of trend-led campaigns. Through these we will tackle key issues for our members and use our influence to affect change in either policy, legislation or best practice.
- We will emphasise all that is good in the industry. We will champion diversity through case studies and give speakers the opportunity to provide a platform to encourage all people into the outdoor events industry.
- We will build a council that is fit for the future, providing a solid knowledge base with the expertise and experience necessary to provide support to our members. We will also build closer links with government.

Vision (10 year)

- We aim to continue to be the UK's leading trade association for the outdoor events industry.
- We want to work more closely with our existing members, and build a wider trust so more event professionals desire to be a NOEA member.
- We want to encourage and champion diversity, progress and best practice in the events industry.
- We want to be the go-to place for help, advice, and to be seen as the figurehead of the industry, working closely with the industry as well as informing government policy

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER – SUSAN TANNER

This year has again been an interesting one. We have been involved in the following projects

- EIF Research project I sit on the Purple Guide Board and the research was launched at the House of Commons last month a useful piece of research showing the value of our industry
- We have revisited the Powerful Thinking group and are looking at the issues there.
- We are looking to expand the NOEA reach to the Farming community and working with the Farming Innovation show
- A new campaign Respect has been launched.
- More member benefits are to be added as we are aiming to bring a bigger package to members

We are still involved in the following ongoing projects

- BVEP – Business Visitors and Events Partnership
- All Party Parliamentary Group for Events
- NOEA Scotland has also been busy and we are attending and exhibiting at an Eventit in March.

The Council are also looking at other projects but we will take a researched and diligent response to new issues as opposed to “jumping on the band waggon”

We have exhibited at Event Production Show and Showman's Show and Event it in Scotland Fest Out did not happen this year but it may be coming back next year.

See Tickets and FIA Formulae E joined us as Future sponsors alongside our other Future sponsor, ACT National .Our futures supporters are precious to us and they help us achieve so much more as an Association throughout the year. We also welcomed a new award sponsor People's Post code lottery.

2019 Convention in November focused on what happens when events get taken over by Gold Command and also our responsibilities towards our staff and event teams. Sometimes extra care and awareness during an event can prevent mental health issues after an event.

I must say that the award standard was exceptionally high this year and we have a record number of attendees for the dinner. If you have not attended before perhaps consider it in 2020 it really is a good evening in amazing setting with fabulous networking opportunities.

I really feel that this location in Bath suits us as somewhere different. It also does have an outdoor element to the evening when we gather around outside at the main Baths. Our award sponsors really support this event and we are very grateful to all of them.

I would like to say thank you for all the support from the council. It is much appreciated. Thank you also to AL Turner 8 PR

Also thanks to all those members who helped at exhibitions or helped through the year I am very grateful. As I keep saying create, collaborate and you can control your destiny and the destiny of NOEA.

It is after all - Your NOEA!

NOEA SCOTLAND

VICE CHAIRMAN – JONATHAN REID

Another year draws to a close and I hope it has been fruitful and prosperous for all our members around the industry.

With such a diverse range of fantastic events throughout the country it is hard to single any particular one out but perhaps one of the highlights in 2019 has to be the Solheim Cup which returned to Scotland for the first time since 2000. Last time it was at Loch Lomond Golf Club, this time to one of the jewels in our golfing crown – Gleneagles Golf Club.

The tournament attracted over 90,000 visitors which is the highest attended women's golf event ever to be staged in the UK and with a team Europe win, what's not to love!

TRNSMT returned for its third year and saw three sell out shows headlined by Stormzy, Catfish and the Bottlemen, George Ezra and a late addition of Lewis Capaldi proved a huge hit with his local crowd. NOEA were proud to present TRNSMT's creator - Geoff Ellis with a Lifetime Achievement award at our annual convention held once again at the Guildhall in historic Bath.

August saw Edinburgh turn into festival town as usual and yet again record ticket sales confirms the capital as a fantastic and culturally rich and diverse place to be at that time of year.

Of course there have been many hundreds of other superb events throughout Scotland in 2019 and I hope they were all as successful and well received and those mentioned above.

The cloud of Brexit has been hanging over us all year but it seems our industry is too buoyant, creative and diverse to let a bit of political uncertainty get in its way.

As I write this we are close to our first December election since 1923 but hopefully by the time you read this we have certainty and stability to go forward into 2020.

Looking ahead to next year, there are many exciting prospects for the industry – Scotland's year of Coasts and Waters will see a programme of tours, cultural performances, exhibitions, community activities and other great events all round our coastline.

The LGT World Men's Curling Championship is being staged in Glasgow's Emirates Arena and will see curling's elite visit Scotland in March.

Our national stadium – Hampden park will host 4 matches as part of The UEFA Euro 2020 tournament in June and as part of this, the UEFA Festival will take the excitement of the Euro tournament around the streets of Glasgow. It will run for 31 days as a celebration of arts, culture, music and of course – football.

Again just a couple of the many exciting events planned for 2020 and we hope all our members will prosper in the coming year and maybe even an early start with The Calcutta Cup (hopefully) being retained by Scotland at Murrayfield.

Of course your NOEA Scotland team remain on hand for all our members and hope to see many of you at the EVENTIT show which will be held at Edinburgh's EICC on 19th March. Our Chief Exec – Susan Tanner will also be in attendance so please look in to say hello and give us your chat!

Jonathan Reid
Vice Chairman, NOEA Scotland

LINKEDIN

The key to building a successful trade organisation is in creating a community where members can share good practice, great ideas and lessons they've learnt from their time in the industry.

As part of this, NOEA launched a brand-new LinkedIn page in 2019 which now has over 500 members from across the events industry. We regularly share information and ideas from our members, media partners and wider industry experts – all of which is designed to promote growth and improvement for us all.

If you have any good news stories you would like us to share across LinkedIn then please don't hesitate to send these over to susan@noea.org.uk and we'll get them out there for you.

Thank you to everyone who has followed and engaged us in the past few months. If you haven't then please pop on and give us a follow. Building our community can only be beneficial for all of us!

www.linkedin.com/company/noea/

MEMBER BENEFITS

As part of our continued drive to support our members, your Council are currently exploring new member benefits which would be beneficial to you in delivering your event or running your business.

We already have an extensive range of opportunities available to members including legal advice, support with your event insurance, asset purchases and factoring however we are looking to increase this range of benefits throughout 2020.

If you have any ideas or benefits, you would like to suggest or offer our members then please don't hesitate to get in touch with susan@noea.org.uk

So, keep your eyes across our newsletters, social networks and website for updates throughout the year.

Whilst, being a member of NOEA offers an unrivalled network of event and industry professionals to support you in your business, we are working hard to improve the suite of member benefits through a range of ever-improving partnerships!

FESTIVALS AND THE LOCAL ENVIRONMENT

FESTIVALS – AN ECOSYSTEM UNDER THREAT

Sustainability has been a central topic in the large scale event industry for some time now with a particular focus on the effect that these gatherings have on the local environment. There has been an emphasis put on minimising our impact on the green spaces we use, as an ecosystem's survival is based on its ability to maintain itself, deal with outside influences, grow, and constantly change.

The festival circuit as an environment is in its relative infancy. It has been able to develop due to the existing framework of hard standing and green spaces across the country, the alacrity and creativity of its members, and the cultural and financial benefit of thousands coming together. The process in which ecosystems change is called succession, which dovetails nicely into the crux of this post.

What are we doing now for those who will come next? The industry has grown over the last five years but is coming under increased pressure from all sides leaving the industry – for both new and established events – under threat. What building blocks are we putting in place for the next generation of festival producers and audiences? How are we preserving the festival ecosystem? Are outside influences having a damning effect on the survival of large scale events and what can be done about it?

Our white paper 'The Political Economy Of Informal Events, 2030' was borne out of frustration. It speaks from the perspective of event producers and explains how there are huge challenges coming this way. Case in point, Zone X – The First/Last Mile. Festival organisers are being tasked with the welfare of attendees more now than ever before. Within reason, it is a responsibility that should be taken up by all of those in line to benefit from the event. There is of course a degree of responsibility, but where does it end? What defines the 'immediate vicinity' of an event? What is our remit? From the event space to the transport hub? And if the framework is already in place, what should dictate the extra costs, if any?

Rather than foisting culpability onto the organisers, we should instead look into creating a strategic alliance where all those in line to benefit from the festivities are involved in and responsible for the planning and implementation of any ingress/egress support. This information sharing exercise can prove that welfare is all of our responsibility.

Current violence is often placed with and upon us with little or no support. However, this crime is also indicative of a larger issue stemming from long term and large scale financial underinvestment at other tertiary levels. Ironically, the financial filip of a festival on a local supply chain may help mitigate this shortfall. Nocturnal economy booms even during a depression. This may come in the form of financial reinvigoration of the local supply chain through crew rooming nights, building merchants, and support of local businesses and artists. With this in mind, local authorities should be championing these events and offering clarification to residents of the potential benefits received from their existence. Denizens may feel aggrieved and rarely understand the benefits festivals bring to the local community.

Councillors have to place conditions on licences, rarely given in perpetuity, to demonstrate support for the electorate. Particularly since residents are increasingly mobilising their communities to object festival licences, with each condition costing more to meet. This perspective should be continuously measured and shared by those with a vested interest in the event. The collective activity can create the breeze upon which the supportive voices will carry.

Festivals, both large and small, support numerous charities and good causes too. Over £100M is paid each and every year in green space rental via promoters, which is set to increase further as councils are under the aforementioned pressure to plug funding gaps. We can't ring-fence this money but without it, parks would fall into disrepair. Here is where the commercial relationships with councillors can be utilised. Right now, they are disjointed with opportunities being missed at a huge cost to both sides. This isn't a one-sided misalignment. Shows also need to innovate and galvanise attendees with their values and vision, making them less artist driven.

The infrastructure and agent/artist fee outlays have also grown exponentially. This too acts as a barrier to entry for fledgling promotional teams, those fundamental to the future of our industry, which already has significant churn. Customers stop attending and staff leave. More shows should be and are forthcoming as audiences want provenance and smaller experiences, such as niche shows in all sectors. Shows are becoming more and more expensive to put on, plunging new and established organisers into the red as costs spiral. In a model which relies on new entries into the market for growth, alongside the stability of established brands, such practises are a recipe for disaster. Values and vision can be a way for new entrants into the market to diversify themselves, building a brand in the process.

Our collective responsibility should be to ensure that any barriers to entry are low enough to encourage participation, but high enough to ensure new participants maintain the standards set by their predecessors. The UK should be the world leader on independent festivals. Instead, we are doing all we can do ensure this bubble bursts. Without challenging the preconceptions, controlling the narrative, and planning for the future of our industry, festivals will be no more.

This course has, the first of its kind when it started in 2008 has helped professionalise and validate industry professionals in Event Safety Management. It has been developed by industry for industry, and is now delivered in partnership with the National Outdoor Events Association (NOEA). It offers a comprehensive overview of events safety and helps you apply these skills to the workplace.

Course leader Eddy Grant has played a key role in the delivery of a safety of a range of high profile events including Tour de France, Tour of Britain, concerts across the UK, and many more.

Richard Limb CFIOSH is a former President of NOEA, currently chairs the IOSH Sports Ground and Events Group has a vast experience in safety management dating back to his work on the first safety guide in 1990.

It aims to bring up to date with existing legislation that affects you as an event organiser.

It demystifies the issue of risk assessment and you'll learn how to run events safely.

"The responsibility of people's safety and lives cannot be underestimated and has to be taken seriously. The author of risk assessments takes responsibility for their content and a number have been challenged in court and a few have served a prison sentence. This Diploma aims to address the quality and skills needed. We take individuals experienced in events, provide them with the knowledge needed – inspire them, assess them, award them and have some fun." Richard Limb of NOEA.

The Diploma in Events Safety Management is ideal for practising event professionals who are responsible for health and safety or customer protection at festivals, sporting events, public gatherings, commercial and not for profit events, as well as large-scale and international association meetings.

You'll begin the course with a three day workshop in Events Safety Management. You'll then attend a two day workshop in Events Legislation and a further two day workshop in Crisis Communication and Reputation Management.

On successful completion of the Events Legislation module you will meet the academic requirements for Tech IOSH.

Charlie Mussett Senior Operations Manager at the Great Run Company "the Diploma is an excellent course, taught by current event professionals. It confirmed and developed my skills, with the added bonus of learning with other professionals and sharing our experiences to enhance the learning process".

A discount is offered for NOEA Members.

LOOKING BACK OVER THE LAST 40 YEARS

WHERE DID IT ALL BEGIN – 40 YEARS AGO?

A small group of Outdoor Show Organisers met at the Post House Hotel in Luton around September 1979 to discuss some common challenges in the industry, in particular “to protect the interests of contractors and entertainers against non payment of fees by show organisers.” Subsequently the Association of Professional Outdoor Show Organisers was formed (APOSO). The first President was Jeff Brownhut and with his colleagues are now Honorary Life Members of NOEA.

In 1987, the name was changed to the National Outdoor Events Association to reflect that NOEA was representative of a much wider base of interests in the world of outdoor events.

Up until late 1989, there had been an Honorary Secretary but with the ever increasing workload it was felt that a part time Secretary should be appointed. NOEA approached John Barton who was Secretary of the Mobile and Outdoor Caterers Association (later named NCASS - Nationwide Caterers Association) and he duly accepted the position!

In 1991, NOEA with just 46 members faced many serious challenges in order to re-establish its identity in the UK Events Industry. Fortuitously, John knew Tony Speller MP very well through the Catering Industry and thus they quickly arranged a special re-launch meeting at the House of Commons. Representatives from various Government Departments attended along with other trade associations, British Standards Institution, The National Trust, Local Authorities, Event Organisers and Suppliers of Products and Services and existing NOEA Members totalling some 100 delegates. In recognition of his work and support Tony Speller was appointed the first Honorary President of NOEA. As they say “the rest is history.”

Over the next 20 years NOEA published the first ever NOEA Code of Practice for Outdoor Events in 1993, also negotiated the publication of Access All Areas as the official magazine, in 1995 membership increased to 136, many joint Association meetings, along with Local Authorities, the Leisure Industry Security Conferences, Technical Seminars, taking part in Trade Shows - Event Production Show and the Showman's Show, first ever NOEA Yearbook in 1995 and still going strong today. 1997 saw the introduction of the World Wide Web internet services of which NOEA took full advantage, from 1997 until 2010, over 30 successful regional conferences with exhibit displays took place in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, in 2001 NOEA organised a group stand at the Festival Exhibition, Rotterdam under the name of the newly formed European Outdoor Events Association and the 21st Anniversary Celebration Dinner/Dance at Chatsworth House, in 2002 - the first Annual Convention at Harewood House, Nr Leeds, 2004/2005 saw the publication of the first monthly Members Newsletter and still continues today in a different format, from 2006 the NOEA National Conventions took place at Chateau Impney Hotel, Droitwich, Spa, Worcestershire, Oxford Belfry, Nr Thame, Oxfordshire in 2008 and 2009 and at the University of Derby in 2010.

Other matters – 2006 saw the start of the annual seminar sessions at The Event Show, over the years different groups were formed including the Scottish Outdoor Events Group, Universities & Students working with NOEA, National Entertainments Agents Council merged with NOEA, NOEA Local Authorities Forum and Local Authority Event Organisers Group (LAEORG) and Business Visits & European Partnership Events Industry Forum, Business Tourism Partnership, Liaison with Festival & Events International - Europe and joined The Genesis Initiative representing over 150 organisations to talk to Government, the All Party Political Group of MPs representing the UK Event Industry in Parliament and raising the profile of the Industry at Westminster, The Main Event Exhibition in Glasgow and the Bucks New University involving the importance of students.

In February 2010, John Barton retired after serving 20 years as General Secretary at the NOEA National Convention at the University of Derby. Susan Tanner (formerly Event Director of Bristol Balloon Fiesta) was appointed General Secretary (later CEO).

As a matter of record, I am pleased to remind people of the origins of NOEA and its substantial growth of influence in the Events Industry over the last 40 years! All this is only a brief resume but there is a collection of all the NOEA Yearbooks in my possession since the first one was published in 1995. Many congratulations to Tom Clements, Specialized Security as the new President of NOEA and the election of the new NOEA General Council. Best wishes to Andy Grove, Highgrove Events Ltd, former President who is moving on to pastures new! No doubt plans will be put in place to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of NOEA in 2029 and I would be happy to accept an invitation to attend this very special occasion!

John Barton, General Secretary, NOEA 1990 - 2010

EVENTS INDUSTRY FORUM – EIF

The Events Industry Forum provides an informal organisation that brings together event industry trade associations and similar bodies to discuss issues of common interest.

The Forum usually meets twice a year. Other than an elected secretary and chairman the organisation has no formal structure or role. Although from time to time it may act to represent its members bodies in respect of issues where there is a unilateral and common interest.

Current offices are Chairman, Steve Heap from the Association of Festival Organisers 01629 827014, sh@festivalorganisers.org and Secretary Jim Winship the Event Services Association 07850 104034 jim@esa.org.uk

Membership of the Forum is open only to trade and similar organisations who are involved in representing the UK event industry or influencing the industry through training and education.

RESEARCH

In 2018 the EIF commissioned Bournemouth University to conduct a major piece of research into the impact, both social and economic, of the outdoor events industry. This revealed that our industry contributed £39.5 billion to the UK economy in 2018. More details of that can be found on the EIF website at www.eventsindustryforum.co.uk

The Events Industry Forum also publishes the Purple Guide previously published by Health and Safety Executive which continues to support its publication. It is now a downloadable document which aims to provide guidance and to help those who organise music and similar events to run them safely. The Purple Guide is updated regularly and revisions to chapters are made available to subscribers as they are completed. Subscribers are automatically notified when revisions are made and they will receive these free as part of their annual subscription see www.thepurpleguide.co.uk

Finally, through funds generated by the kind voluntary work of all the chapter writers of the Purple Guide the EIF collects funds to re-distribute in grant form for projects that will benefit the events industry in its wider context. Such grants in the past have been to students to attend industry conferences and to organisations working on practical ways for the events industry to address climate change and sustainability. In future EIF intends to conduct further research into more detailed aspects of the events industry and to support an All-Party Parliamentary Group for Events in the House of Commons in order to encourage the Government to recognise the wealth and impact that this industry has to life in the UK.

Business Visits & Events Partnership

CONNECTING BRITAIN'S EVENTS INDUSTRY

As usual the challenge of drafting something for a yearbook that has to reasonably stand the test of time is even more complex this year, as we are not just wishing the old year farewell, but are also shifting from one decade into the next. Reviewing the success of the UK events industry in the last 10 years would take a lot more space and words than I've been allowed, but I'm confident that all of us working in events in whatever capacity can agree that we have really seen a shift in the role and importance of events as a significant contributor to the economic and cultural life of UK plc.

We were able to run the numbers in the manifesto that the BVEP produced for our partners to use during the 2019 election campaign and the £70bn+ tells a compelling story of both growth and increasing recognition by government of the opportunities that events of all types create to promote local, regional and national interests. We are not making these numbers up and the BVEP will continue to back both qualitative and quantitative research projects that provide more data on the return on investment and broader societal contributions in terms of supporting well-being, sustainability, empowerment, diversity and accessibility.

Two major issues in the BVEP manifesto were infrastructure and skills development, both areas being supported by the work of the Event Industry Board. As a clearly defined industrial sector in our own right we still need to activate around these issues by providing much more support for those working hard to deliver real changes in the way our industry is perceived. There are lots of different audiences that we need to reach – from officials charged with policy development, politicians looking at improving their local communities, parents and guardians considering career paths for children and students and obviously to all of our international clients – we are still open for business and are determined to make the most of new opportunities.

Securing the gains that the event industry has made over the last 10 years will be an incredibly important part of the next 12 months, as the usual changes of personnel that follows any election bed into new roles and responsibilities. The promises made during the election will also be facing a sterner test in real time delivery and we will all need to keep a wary eye on how priorities and policies are developing.

The deal that we have all been told was "oven ready" will probably impact on the way we all do business in one way or another. Yet we have no idea how many ovens might be required to bake it in, how many bakers we have to do the baking, how good they are at baking in the first place or – disaster – if actually it's an imported US style ready-dough that you can ping in a microwave. Looks good but is full of salt and saturated fats. So this is no time for fake news folks – we've got to keep it real this year.

Simon Hughes, Vice Chair BVEP

BV&EP and VisitBritain

NOEA has been a member for some years and the Partnership recognise the importance of the event industry alongside tourism, conferences and exhibitions. BVEP have been influential in opening doors for us to government departments in a supportive role and working behind the scenes for the benefit of the Events Industry in general.

INDUSTRY ASSOCIATION CELEBRATES THE BEST OF OUTDOOR EVENTS

Tom Clements, President of NOEA said: "Once again, the awards have picked out some of the biggest names, and some of the hidden gems, that this great industry seems to bring up every single year. It was a brilliant night, and every winner should be justly proud of their achievements."

Susan Tanner, CEO of NOEA said: "At NOEA we represent the very best events companies and individuals who make these awards so well respected internationally. The day conference was an example of just how far we've come as an industry in taking on big subjects and coming up with sensible solutions. This was only supported by the quality of the winners in the evening."

Alistair Turner, Chair of the Judging Panel said: "Winning a NOEA Award really means something and is a hallmark on the website of every winner this evening. To get onto the shortlist alone is a great achievement, the competition is incredibly tough, and the judges only recognise the very, very best."

The ABB FIA Formula E Championship is the closest and most competitive category in motorsport, with unpredictable and exciting electric racing in the centre of the world's most iconic cities. Formula E is the fastest-growing series in motorsport and boasts the best roster in racing, where renowned road car manufacturers and automotive brands battle for points, position and bragging rights.

Formula E is more than just a race on the track, it's also a proving ground and platform with a higher purpose - to test new technologies, drive development to the production line and put more electric cars on the road. Using the spectacle of sport, the ABB FIA Formula E Championship is sending a powerful and meaningful message to help alter perceptions and speed-up the switch to electric, in a bid to counteract the climate crisis as well as addressing the devastating effects of air pollution.

FUTURES SPONSOR

See Tickets

See Tickets has become the latest event brand to partner with the National Outdoor Events Association (NOEA) through its Futures Programme.

The partnership was announced at the Event Production Show, and will see the ticketing brand join the other stellar brands already part of the initiative.

As part of the Futures Programme, See Tickets is taking a proactive step to invest in the future of the outdoor events industry by supporting the initiatives implemented by NOEA. The leading event ticketing company will also join an Advisory Board, alongside the other supporters, that puts recommendations forward to the NOEA Council, to ensure the association continues to represent the industry's growth and stability.

On top of the futures initiative, See Tickets will also become official ticketing partner at NOEA's Annual Convention and Awards showcase.

Commenting on the new partnership, Matt Evans, Commercial Manager, See Tickets, added: "As a business, we're keen to support the outdoor events industry by working with NOEA. We're big fans of education, recognition, and representation of our industry, across business and government, and are looking forward to helping out on these initiatives."

JACE or the Joint Advisory Committee Entertainments meets formally twice per year. It is chaired by HSE and its attendant membership is drawn mainly from industry trade bodies, trades unions, large event facilities and the major national broadcasting organisations.

NOEA represents the outdoor events industry at the bi annual meetings which are attended by a wide range of companies and organisations across the entertainment industry. Fellow JACE members include Netflix, BBC, Disney, Theatre, British Stunt Association, Sport Ground Safety Authority.

There are many issues which effect everyone working in the high pressure, transient world of entertainment and these are addressed at JACE meetings. It is an opportunity to look at best practices in other areas and how we can implement them in our industry. It is also an opportunity for us to discuss with the HSE their and our concerns about regulation and effective implementation of regulation in the industry and as a forum to raise concerns with Government, enforcing authorities, manufacturers, suppliers etc

Recent topics of discussion have been:

- Mental Health and wellbeing
- Medical provision at live events
- Use of MEWPS

JACE will meet again in May 2020.

WORKING WITH FREELANCERS

DO YOU UNDERSTAND YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES?

When I talk to the majority of my clients the subject of Freelancers is regularly a topic for discussion. The reason for this is within the Audio Visual and Events Industry they are commonly used as a source of labour and understanding your responsibility towards them is key. Many clients believe that they fall into the same category as a Bona Fide Sub-Contractor and therefore they have little responsibility towards them. There is a big difference between taxation law and employment law and the following article will help you determine the difference between the two.

It's okay they have their own insurance

The one constant message that I always hear when I talk to my clients about correctly insuring Freelancers is "it's okay because they have their own insurance". However, if a Freelancer is working for you, he will usually be regarded as your employee on that day and having their own insurance may not make a difference.

Why does it matter?

Because of their temporary employee status, you will have the same duty of care towards him as you would towards your own employees. Your Health & Safety Policy and Risk Assessments therefore need to take this into consideration. If a Freelancer is injured on site, they will usually have a claim against your Employer's Liability Insurance and therefore their wages need to be declared to your insurer on the same basis as employees. If they have not been correctly disclosed, it could invalidate your insurance.

Get yourself out of the grey with our helpful checklist

To help you understand for insurance purposes the status of the sub-contractors we have the following guide. This will help you determine whether a worker is a Freelancer or Bona Fide Sub-Contractor.

Freelancers Will Usually	Bona Fide Subcontractors Will Usually
Be paid by the hour, week, or month.	Agree to do a job for a fixed price regardless of how long the job may take.
Receive overtime pay or bonus payment.	Correct unsatisfactory work in their own time and at their own expense.
Only supply their own small hand tools.	Provide or hire in the main items of equipment they need to do their job, not just the small tools.
Always have to do the work themselves.	Hire someone to do the work or engage helpers at their own expense.
Be told by the principal contractor at any time what to do, where to carry out the work or when and how to do it.	Within an overall deadline be able to decide what work to do, how and when to do the work and where to provide the services.
Be moved from task to task by the principal contractor.
Work a set number of hours.	Have a contract of service as opposed to a contract of employment.
Please note this checklist is only a guide to correctly covering Freelancers and should you require expert advice please contact Luker Rowe.	Work for a number of different people other than the principal.
	Pay the cost of all materials or supplies required for the work without being reimbursed (excluding minor items and consumables).
	Risk their own money if they bid for a job and the bid is too low, they have to bear the additional cost themselves.
	Hold their own public liability insurance in their own name.

The 2019 Berghaus Dragon's Back Race® is over and what an incredible week it was for all involved.

The 5th edition of this legendary race further cemented its reputation as a world-class event in the mountain running and outdoor community. Earning a coveted Dragon trophy represents the culmination of months of hard training and preparation that only the most determined and experienced mountain and ultra-runners can aspire to. The very challenging nature of the event is clearly shown in statistics:

2012 – Starters 82, Finishers 32 – Finishing rate: 39%
 2015 – Starters 142, Finishers 65 – Finishing rate: 45%
 2017 – Starters 223, Finishers 127 – Finishing rate: 56%
 2019 – Starters 402, Finishers 251 – Finishing rate: 62%

As the Race Director, I have a strong sense of the Berghaus Dragon's Back Race® coming of age with a combination of collective knowledge and experience held by both participants and the event team on how best to complete, and how best to organise the event. This is reflected in the improving completion rate with each edition, combined with the ever more efficient and slick delivery of an ever increasingly complex event. There were many occasions during the week when I stood back and just watched the superb event team quietly completing their tasks. At the same time, I was also observing so many competitor's quiet determination and fortitude. It truly was an amazing week surrounded by so many highly motivated and like-minded people and I am proud to have played my part alongside you all.

Whilst the improving completion rate with each edition is flattering, I know that the full beast of the Dragon has yet to be unleashed. This was the fourth edition of the (modern) event and still, we maintain a near perfect run of Welsh weather. We all know that this run of luck must end at some point, and a week of continuously poor weather during such an arduous event would likely decimate the number of finishers. I'll keep my fingers crossed that our run of luck continues in 2021 when the next edition of the race will take place.

Thanks to the Event Team

One of my roles at the event is to ensure that the Event Team are happy. Whilst I'd love to interact, encourage and support every runner individually this role is completed by the Event Team. In the week since the event, we have all been touched by the stories of compassion, caring and support that the 2019 participants are now sharing with us and online. This is all down to simply awesome Event Team who grafted through long hours, whilst being cheerful, friendly and professional. They are an absolute credit to the running and outdoor community, and I would like to again state my sincere thanks to them all; you made the event the stunning success it was!

Thanks to Berghaus

Way back in 2010 I was doing some consulting work for Berghaus at the same time as reading Feet in the Clouds. Berghaus were keen to create an iconic event and inspired by the chapter about the original 1992 Dragon's Back Race, I had a light bulb moment and invited Berghaus to sponsor the 'Berghaus Dragon's Back Race®'. We have been working together ever since, and Berghaus have been a continuous and strong supporter of the event best demonstrated by coveted 'Event Team' uniform being a highlight for the Event Team and a very visible reminder to every one of their commitment to supporting this unique mountain running event.

Thanks to all the landowners and stakeholders

We would also like to thank the following major landowners and stakeholders without who's permission and co-operation this event would not be possible: Ysgol Porth-y-Felin, Conwy Castle, Snowdonia National Park, Natural Resources Wales, National Trust - Snowdonia, Gwynedd Council, Powys County Council, Carmarthenshire County Council, Elan Valley Trust, Brecon Beacons National Park and Tregib Sports Facilities. In fact, there are literally hundreds of landowners and stakeholders along the route who we continue to liaise with and who's support and goodwill is essential for the smooth flow of runners along the course from North to South Wales. Thank you. Diolch.

Media

We had an exceptional team of photographers, filmmakers, and media professionals to bring the race to life. Somehow, we needed to capture the excitement of the adventure, the physical challenge, the drama of the competition and the camaraderie between both the runners and the event team. It very quickly became apparent that many people at home were becoming rather obsessed with watching the dots on the GPS Tracking page progress slowly but steadily down through Wales. Messages of support and admiration for the participants' efforts came flooding in during the week.

Supporters dressed as Dragons appeared unexpectedly on mountain tops, local school children were dressing up as their ultra-running heroes, we had a photo of eventual third placed runner Rob Barnes featured in The Times, and our video footage appeared on BBC Wales. It seemed as though the world was watching. Our daily highlight videos were eagerly anticipated each evening and shared countless times.

2020 Cape Wrath Ultra®

We are now looking forward to our sister event the Cape Wrath Ultra®. In May 2020, this once in a lifetime, 8-day ultra-running expedition race will weave 400km through the Highlands of Scotland, from Fort William to Cape Wrath at the most north-westerly tip of the UK. Now that there are a good number of participants who have taken part in both, it would be fair to summarise the consensus feeling; the Cape Wrath Ultra® includes more runnable terrain, but with greater distances and a more remote route.

2021 Berghaus Dragon's Back Race® - Event dates and Entries opening

The dates for the 2021 Berghaus Dragon's Back Race® are to be confirmed. Entries will open circa one year ahead of the event.

DANCO – MLB GAMES

In June 2019 the London Stadium welcomed one of the greatest rivalries in sport as the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox went head to head over two days. The two-game series ran over the weekend of June 29th & 30th and this was the first regular season MLB games that have ever been played in Europe. The London Stadium was transformed into a baseball ground as two of the sport's biggest clubs prepared for a historic Series in the capital. Danco provided temporary structures at the main entrance on Endeavour Square, around the Stadium apron and at the fan-zone which was located at the Truman Brewery in Brick Lane. The structures were fitted out and provided the retail outlets our client needed to service the fans with Baseball Fashion and accessories.

Working in large cities is always challenging but Danco's Operations and Transport team worked tirelessly to ensure that very strict access times were adhered to. Our management team, site crews and sub-contractors also took on board the very important and specific nature of the site health and safety policies. Our fleet of vehicles and forklifts allowed us to weave around the city and handle the challenging vehicle access windows, ensuring our success. We were delighted to take on the challenge, and proud to help create an unforgettable experience for all the spectators.

FINELINE LIGHTING

Events businesses come together for a good cause

On 14 September 2019, Fineline Lighting supplied lighting, rigging and crew free of charge to a local fundraising event, organised by the Team Love, the company behind Love Saves the Day and The Downs Festival.

The event was organised in an effort to save St Paul's Adventure Playground, an open access playground in Bristol catering to children aged 8-13. The facility includes a sensory room, art room, kitchen and numerous sports facilities and puts on a number of activities for the children who attend sessions, including sports, arts and crafts, nature and gardening and targeted groups and activities organised in consultation with local parents and children.

The facility has been running for 30 years and offering free services has always been part of its core philosophy. The fundraising effort was just one way for the playground to try and keep itself financially stable.

Utilising the network and expertise of Team Love, the event featured a line-up of top local DJs and artists as well as other activities. The event ultimately sold out and the crowdfunder for the playground is at over £12,000 at time of writing.

All in all it was a fantastic day with local events businesses coming together to give something back to the local community and working towards a very worthy cause.

Lara Mistry – Great Exhibition Rd Festival Manager, Imperial College “We just wanted to say a massive thank you for the last few months and over the weekend. It’s been such a pleasure to be working with you on this festival. All the staff and contractors that we interacted with over the weekend were hugely helpful and supportive. It was such a wonderfully positive team to be working alongside.”

Kellie Blake – Events Producer, Lewisham Council “Lewisham Council and Continental Drifts have worked together for over 12 years. In partnership we deliver, Blackheath Fireworks, London’s biggest free firework night display, looking after over 80,000 visitors every year at this huge event. Every summer, Continental Drifts produce our flagship event, Lewisham People’s Day. An outdoor arts festival now in its 35th year, showcasing local and international talent on 7 stages, it’s a unique mash-up of family, art and community. The whole team at Continental Drifts offer a professional service but they also care deeply about the projects they work on. They go beyond their scope of work to accommodate new ideas, they listen and help and they want to create a magical experience for everyone involved.”

Tom Wates – ONBlackheath Festival “Continental Drifts project managed the production of our festival OnBlackheath, with over 20,000 attendees. The pre-event management was effortless, their projected costs and budget control was exceptional, and the event was managed without any incident whatsoever. Artists, suppliers and sponsors commented that they had never been treated so well at any event.”

Event Wine Solutions conducted a carbon comparison study of its packaging with interesting results.

As part of a commitment to analysing the environmental impact of its packaging, Event Wine Solutions has engaged environmental research consultants to conduct a carbon comparison study of the different options available to clients.

The conclusions of the study indicate the following in relation to the different packaging formats:

Aluminium cans

The study discovered that aluminium cans represent the lowest lifestyle carbon compared to glass, PET & rPET – lifestyle carbon is the sum total of all carbon emitted from manufacture to end of life.

The cans also boast a low transport carbon footprint due to being lightweight – 33% more wine can be transported per truck than glass.

Aluminium also has a high recycling rate of 75% in the UK which saves 95% of its production energy.

rPET bottles, made from 99% recycled material

The study revealed that rPET bottles from 99% recycled material represent the lowest embodied carbon compared to cans, glass & PET – embodied carbon is the sum total of all carbon emitted during manufacture and delivery.

rPET bottles are 85% lighter than glass meaning that 20% more wine can be transported per truck than glass.

rPET also has a high recycling rate of 74% in the UK, making use of existing plastic waste. The UK Government target of 30% average recycled content across all plastic packaging means that demand for PET is high.

To view the full carbon comparison document and find out more, visit www.eventwinesolutions.com

Event Wine Solutions explains, “We recognise that many consumers enjoy sharing a full bottle of wine, and remain convinced that this is best delivered at events in a 750ml plastic bottle format. However, we are excited that our innovations in aluminium canned wines provide the perfect solution for events looking to reduce the amount of plastic on site. We have sought extensive advice on not just the environmental impact, but the embodied carbon of wine packaging. We accept that there are pros and cons for each format, so we offer our clients the chance, supported by sourced data, to choose what’s right for their event and our environment.

With many environmental experts now endorsing recycled plastic as a packaging option, our new rPET bottles enable the events industry to continue to offer the full 750ml wine bottle. The additional option of a single 250ml serve in aluminium cans will create new wine sales opportunities and remove the need for the smaller 187ml plastic wine bottle format on site. Event Wine Solutions’ commitment to its products’ quality, diversity and sustainability remains at the heart of its ethos. This next stage of packaging evolution is a natural progression for the company, which was born in October 2010 with a mission to bring quality wine to the events industry.”

Do you have the best caterers for your event?

Are you earning a fair revenue from concessions?

Are they actually safe and up to standard?
How do you know?

Are you covered if anything goes wrong?

Can your traders adopt sustainable practices?

Food is an increasingly important aspect of events, adding to the overall experience adding value and helping to enhance the memorable moments of your show. In 2015, Journalist Rachel Aroesti jokingly asked in the Guardian newspaper if Glastonbury had become a foodie festival.

The amount of choice available for events has never been so great or the quality so high. But how do you find these caterers that will compliment and add value to your event.

The Nationwide Caterers Association (NCASS) has been supporting event caterers for over 30 years. With more than half of the industry members of the organisation, NCASS is increasingly a sign of professionalism and quality.

NCASS work hard to ensure the safety and compliance of food businesses, keeping them up to date with legal requirements, providing paperwork and training developed by world renowned food safety experts, that can be tailored by businesses to their specific needs. All of these documents are stored safely and securely on the NCASS Connect system, a trader passport scheme designed to support government in managing members through total transparency.

Connect enables events to check compliance and share data with local authorities, to find the caterers they need and get fair fees for their concessions for free. We are partnered with the Royal Borough of Greenwich Food Safety team to deliver assured advice and guidance to food businesses and our ground-breaking food salvage scheme supports the local community and avoids unnecessary carbon footprint.

We're here to help you to get the right traders, at the right price, to ensure you're covered and save you time and hassle. So please give NCASS Connect a call today to discuss how to curate the ultimate event food experience... 0121 603 2524 or email info@ncassconnect.co.uk

The ABB FIA Formula E Championship is the world's first fully-electric international single-seater street racing series. Consisting of ten teams and 20 drivers, Formula E delivers world-class racing to 10 cities over five continents, throughout the seven-month Championship season. Bringing racing rivalries to city streets, set against some of the most iconic skylines in the world - such as New York, Hong Kong, Paris and Rome - Formula E is racing, reinvented. But it's more than just a racing series. Formula E serves as a competitive platform for global car manufacturers and mobility providers to test and develop road-relevant technologies. With 11 inspiring partners and 10 global car manufacturers involved, the series acts as a catalyst, helping to refine the design of electric vehicles and improve the driving experience for everyday road car users all over the world.

People in their thousands have attended the stunning setting of Leeds Castle across the last thirty-nine years to be entertained by this amazing open-air musical delight. The first concert took place in 1978 and this year's 40th-anniversary concert will include an inspiring outdoor programme and once again offer a fantastic line-up of performances, including the world famous Royal Philharmonic Concert Orchestra conducted by John Rigby. This special Ruby celebratory event will have a real birthday party atmosphere throughout the summer's afternoon and evening. To celebrate, along with much loved classical favourites, the audience will be treated to a special finale including greatest hits from the 70s era. National Event Welfare Service is a not for profit organisation of volunteers who provide caring support to people attending events who may need emotional or practical support. This could be due to many things, like substance use, mental/physical health, lost children and other safeguarding concerns to name a few. Although most people enjoy outdoor events, there will always be people who need sensitive and timely intervention to get back to the good times. Our team are recruited from appropriate backgrounds with good interpersonal skills and rapport, such as counsellors, social workers, youth workers, substance use workers, general & psychiatric nurses, childcare workers, and so on. NEWS works with event organisers from the outset to ensure a safe event and full licensing compliance. Please check out our website for more information or contact the Senior Coordinator, Corinne Lane, for an informal chat about the needs of your event. Let's work together to make it special!

Ourea Events organises the UK's finest off-road mountain running events.
Our events are about participants pitting themselves against the challenges posed by the natural mountain environment. Participants will often find themselves in some of the wildest, remotest and most beautiful landscapes that the UK offers. This includes some of the most serious and challenging mountain environments, where the onus is always on the participant to use their skills, experience and judgement to remain safe. Our events are highly credible, authentic and inspirational. We always deliver excellence. Our challenging events ask a lot of the participants but we ask an equal amount from ourselves in terms of attention to detail, meticulous planning and bulletproof organisation.

Revesby Estate exists in its own idyllic setting and offers something quite out of the ordinary, by capitalising on its rich heritage. We are a family owned and managed estate, we care about you and your event. What we offer: Established events venue; Multiple vehicular exit and entrance points and stone roads; Capacity of 10,000+ cars; 186 acres of flat, well drained parkland available for large events up to 30,000+ people; Three event fields, 68 acres, 44 acres, 74 acres; Secluded location so limited noise issues; Office space and Wi-Fi for event coordinators. Due to our close proximity to the Battle of Britain Memorial Centre, Hurricane and Spitfires flybys can be arranged.

RSM 2000 is a market leader in providing businesses and organisations with reliable card payment solutions, direct debit services and SMS services. We have developed a range of solutions to take payments using debit and credit cards for different types of events. For remote greenfield sites with poor mobile signals and a need to reliably and quickly take payments at different gates we can provide satellite vans and Wifi signal masts to create a mesh of ultra reliable connectivity for payment terminals in different locations across the field. We also supply Chip & Pin and Contactless payment terminals on a daily rental basis for smaller events. We can supply lower cost Wifi and mobile connectivity solutions that will work "out of the box" for less remote locations. We also supply SMS marketing services for events allowing people to register and receive alerts reminding them to turn up and advising them of last minute changes.

CSP stands for The Combined Services Provider. It also stands for Caring, Safe, Professional, representing Our Values. We specialise in providing services to both venues and static sites including Car Parking, HVM Solutions, Internal and External Traffic Management, Security, Stewarding, Cash & Audit and Consultancy Services. Whilst our range of services has grown, Car Park/ Traffic Management and Security/Stewarding represent our core areas of expertise. Setting out in 1994, we quickly gained our first major management contract after successfully bidding for all car park operations at the Wembley Stadium Complex, a contract we are proud to have held for over twenty three years. Since those early days we've added numerous prestigious clients to our portfolio and now provide a range of services to some of the UK's most memorable sporting and entertainment events and venues. With our wealth of knowledge and experience of the event industry, we fully understand the complexities of major events and green field site operations, where an irregular event calendar, numerous ingress and egress patterns, varying staffing levels and continued innovation all add to the challenge. We also understand the management and maximising of commercial opportunities at static parking sites. We pride ourselves on being able to adapt to the varying demands placed at each of our venues and ensuring that the same high quality service is delivered for all, whether attended by 100,000 or 100 visitors. Big enough to do the job, small enough to care!

www.ttkwelfare.net
A successful event will want to look after the needs of their customers, particularly those who may be having difficulties or are in distress. No matter how small or inconsequential an individual's problem may seem to you, to them it can be quite a "big deal". Having someone who will not only listen to their problem but help in trying to solve it will make all the difference to their event experience. This is where an event welfare service can offer support. The welfare team can offer them help to best resolve their situation. A welfare service may also offer Safeguarding support by supplying certified and vetted persons who will mind a child found without a parent, keeping them calm in a safe space. But a proper safeguarding service goes beyond minding "lost kids". The welfare team can support any vulnerable young person and ensure that they receive help and understanding. The welfare tent is a place for recovery. If an event has music, bars and dance and particularly if it is an event with overnight camping, it is far too easy for people to over extend the amount of alcohol or potentially the substances they take to have a "good time". A good welfare service will give an event the customer support that will keep people returning to the event again and again and not only that, but when they tell their friends how well they were cared for during a troubled time, their friends will come along too.

Training 4 Resilience provides training solutions and plan validation exercises for events and venues across the UK and Europe. We specialise in the design and delivery of table top exercises that are used to validate plans, develop people as individuals and teams, and to test well established procedures – in fact we have designed and delivered over 150 exercises to date. Our exercises are simulations of emergency situations and vary from alerting exercises (to validate the alerting procedures in the event of an emergency); to short training exercises (focused on a particular topic or area); and full day simulations of complex, unfolding situations. Our customers this year have included premiership football and rugby clubs; large music festivals in the UK and Europe; London local authorities; world leading aviation, tech and food companies; and a range of sporting events. Training 4 Resilience have developed many exercise scenarios that are high on organisational risk registers including: MITA (Marauding Terrorist with Firearms); Terrorist bombings; Human disease (Pandemic 'Flu)

Large and small scale utility loss; Overcrowding and crowd disturbances

Facilitating and managing disabled supporters in a crisis; Transportation issues; Severe weather; Fires (and pyrotechnics at a venues or events). Loss of core buildings/facilities. Several of our courses are delivered on line using our virtual T4R classroom. We also provide practical, hands on, support for events including the management of volunteer stewards.
